

Contents

Authors	ix
Introduction	xv
1. The Plight of American Manufacturing — Richard McCormack Manufacturing & Technology News	1
2. The Evolution of U.S. Trade Policy — Clyde Prestowitz and Kate Heidinger Economic Strategy Institute	71
3. Benchmarking the Advantages Foreign Nations Provide Their Manufacturers — Peter Navarro University of California, Irvine	105
4. The Globalization of Research, Development And Innovation — Ron Hira Rochester Institute of Technology	149
5. The Social Costs of Deindustrialization — John Russo and Sherry Lee Linkon Youngstown State University	183
6. The Diminished Role of Training and Education In American Manufacturing and the Imperative For Change — James Jacobs Macomb Community College	217
7. Erosion of the U.S. Defense Industrial Support Base — Michael Webber The University of Texas at Austin	245
8. Supply Chain Globalization: How Surviving SMEs Can Position Themselves for the Future — Irene Petrick Pennsylvania State University	281
9. Trends and the Future of American Manufacturing — David Bourne Carnegie Mellon University	309

